CPR TALKS OFF, ON AGAIN AFTER DEADLOCK, ULTIMATUM

'Cut Sales Tax By One Per Cent'

VANCOUVER (CP) — Roy C. Sim, national president, Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, asked Friday for a reduction of "at least 1 per cent" of the 5 per cent B.C. sales tax "now that Ottawa has agreed to contribute over $16,000,000 per year to B.C.'s hospital scheme."

IWA Favors Strike

IWA members in Local 1-118 which covers Victoria and Esquimalt districts yesterday narrowly voted in favor of a strike —743 to 661.

In the Alberni district, Local 1-85, voting was firmly in favor of strike action—2,009 to 911 with six spoiled votes.

The Victoria-Esquimalt vote, taken in 18 polling stations, was affirmative by only 52.9 per cent. High interest in the vote was shown by the number of votes—1,404 out of a total of 1,747, or 80 per cent.

Voting in six B.C. Forest Products polls at Port Renfrew, Bear Creek, Harris Creek, Garbally, Plumper Bay and the Gorge Road plywood plant, was a miniature of the overall Victoria-Esquimalt vote with 450 voting in favor of strike action and 414 against, or 52 per cent.

Heaviest vote was that cast at the Gorge Road plant—239 against 145 in favor of striking. The Garbally operation voting was 214 in favor to 133 against.

Province-wide results are not expected to be tabulated until sometime today.

Biggest bang amid the Dominion Day celebrations July 1 will be the explosion two miles north of Cornwall, Ontario, which will signal the completion of a major step in the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway and Power Project. The blast will break through a temporary coffer dam at Barnhart Island and create a new lake some 35 miles long and five miles wide. Water will cover historic sites.

Guest Quits Race

VANCOUVER (CP) — Gowan T. Guest, president of the B.C. Progressive Conservative Association, announced Friday night he is withdrawing from the party's provincial leadership race.

Mr. Guest announced two weeks ago he would contest the leadership now held by Nanaimo lawyer Deane Finlayson. His unexpected withdrawal was made for "personal reasons."

$250,000 Looted In Union

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senate investigators were told Friday that William L. Hutcheson, late president of the Carpenters' Union, embezzled union property worth $250,000 and left it to his heirs.

The charge was outlined before the special Senate rackets committee.

They'll Change Costumes

Glittering Chinese costumes will be replaced by Hawaiian garb when the Hawaiian cast of Chinese play "Lady Precious Stream" stages a Honolulu dance and music show in front of the legislative buildings at 8.30 p.m. Tuesday. They'll perform the play Wednesday and Thursday in the Royal Theatre. Cast includes narrator Rachel Leong Lee, left, and "humble gardener" James Lui.

Mediator Smooths Way

VANCOUVER (CP) — Federal mediator Eric Taylor succeeded Friday in arranging new talks between the CPR and striking seafarers' unions after negotiations to end the tieup of Canadian Pacific coast steamships had broken down.

The talks are scheduled to resume at 9.30 a.m. today.

The three unions involved called a press conference earlier and announced that talks had broken down over a company "ultimatum."

ALTERNATIVE GIVEN

The CPR had given the Seafarers' International Union the alternative of accepting its wage offers or returning to work and accepting binding arbitration.

The company said it was making the offer "in order to get the ships running immediately."

The union whose 350 members have tied up the 10 company ships since May 17, termed the offer an "ultimatum." The union said it was made in the presence of federal mediator Eric Taylor.

'Brazen,' Says Duplessis

Police Oust News Reporter

QUEBEC CITY (UPI)—Premier Maurice Duplessis ordered a "brazen-faced" newspaper reporter, Guy Lamarche of the Montreal Le Devoir, out of his press conference yesterday.

When the reporter refused to leave Duplessis ordered a provincial policeman to escort Lamarche out of the building.

The incident occurred as Duplessis held a roll call at start of the conference. When Lamarche identified himself as a reporter for Le Devoir, Duplessis shouted:

"Get out of my office."

"It's my right to be here," replied Lamarche.

"If you don't get out I'll call the police," Duplessis said.

When Le Devoir newsman still refused to leave, Duplessis told his secretary Gerry Nolan to summon his bodyguard, Walter Duchesnay. His bodyguard could not be found so Duplessis called for his chauffeur, provincial police Lt. Jean Charles Gosselin.

As the officer escorted him out of the office, Lamarche told the premier:

"This is an inadmissable act on your part."

Duplessis referred to the newsman as "brazen-faced" for appearing at the press conference. The entire incident was an outgrowth of a series of front-page articles in Le Devoir exposing what it termed a $20,000,000 stock coup in organizing the Quebec Natural Gas Corporation. Le Devoir named several of Duplessis' cabinet ministers and other officials as stockholders or former stockholders in the corporation.

Premier Duplessis said Liberal leader Jean Lesage claimed to be the champion of freedom of speech but was himself responsible for blocking free speech during the Trans-Canada pipeline debate in the House of Commons.

"At no time has the press ever enjoyed such freedom as under the National Union government," Duplessis said.

His declaration came minutes after he called a provincial police officer to remove the reporter from his office.

If Statehood Granted

Alaskans Set To Go 'Mad'

JUNEAU, Alaska (AP)—Alaskans are getting ready to turn a river to gold, hoist flags, offer prayers and dance in the streets if and when Congress hands them statehood.

At Fairbanks a committee prepared to dump bright gold colored dye into the Chena River.

Balloons will hoist a 50-foot star at a Fairbanks intersection.

A city holiday has been proclaimed in advance, and there will be church services of thanksgiving.

At Alaska's capital here civic and government leaders set up a celebration they said would top the one that followed discovery of gold on Juneau's Gold Creek. Fireworks, bell ringing and street dancing were planned.

At Anchorage, the territory's largest city, they prepared to display a 40-by-60-foot flag, so big there was no flagpole high enough. They decided to hang it on the federal building—when word comes.

Chamber Chief

Elected president of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce for 1958-59 term, G. Conway Parrott will succeed retiring president Hugh Stephen. See story on page 7.

New Lebanon Fighting

Rebels Stopped On Four Fronts

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP)—Jet planes, artillery and armored cars thundered into action Friday against rebel forces slashing at Lebanon's hard-pressed government. An army communique said rebel attacks were stopped on four fronts in new fighting.

The regime of President Camile Chamoun was facing the hardest challenge of the rebellion that began seven weeks ago.

Sporadic shooting and bomb blasts echoed through Beirut Friday night.

HEAVY FIGHTING

Heavy fighting broke out in Beirut's Basta Moslem quarter in the morning and again in the afternoon.

Rebel fighters opened a heavy attack on army positions on Mount Tereol in North Lebanon, but were driven off after jet planes and artillery were thrown in to support the troops, the communique said.

REBEL CLAIMS

The rebel National Front claimed it now controls three-quarters of Lebanon and rebel spokesmen declared the fighting will go on until Chamoun quits as president. Chamoun has admitted the rebels dominate at least 15 per cent of the country.

Just Wait And See

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold is urging United Nations diplomats to take a wait-and-see attitude on Lebanon's crisis.

This was the word Friday from those who have talked privately with him since his return from the Middle East.

Tattoo Fills Big Stadium

VANCOUVER (CP)—Spectators were turned away Friday night from the B.C. Centennial Tattoo at Empire Stadium when the supply of general admission tickets ran out.

Attendance was 21,264, largest so far.

Lawyer Crime On Increase

PENTICTON, B.C. (CP)—An increase in unprofessional conduct by B.C. lawyers is a "serious situation," M. M. McFarlane, chairman of the discipline committee of the B.C. Law Society, said here Friday at the society's annual meetig.

Presenting the committee's annual report, Mr. McFarlane stated, "it is a matter of some concern that during the year there have been several cases involving the actual commission of serious crimes by members of our profession."

He added that the publicity given "these shocking incidents" had an adverse effect upon the legal profession.

In 12 of 128 complaints investigated by the committee, formal inquiries were conducted and as a result four lawyers were reprimanded, four suspended and four disbarred. He said that in addition 30 complaints were under review.

Mr. McFarlane said that changes might be necessary in the tests applied to those seeking entry into the law society and some steps have already been taken in that regard."

He continued: "The committee is, however, of the opinion that the most effective answer is the imposition of severe punishment where misconduct is shown."

T. E. H. Ellis, credentials committee chairman, said lawyers from outside B.C. of less than three years standing at the bar are now required to article in the province for a year instead of six months.

By Castro Rebels

Two Canadians Grabbed in Cuba

HAVANA, Cuba (AP)—Fidel Castro's rebels swooped out of their mountain hideouts and kidnapped 10 Americans and two Canadian engineers in a 2½-hour gun-blazing raid on the Oriente city of Moa Thursday night. Three men were killed.

A rebel leader told Mrs. John Schissler, wife of one of the kidnapped men, they were taking the group as a reprisal. The rebel chieftain charged the United States was allowing Cuban army planes to refuel and load bombs at the U.S. naval base at Guantanamo, 40 miles from Moa.

The Canadians were identified as Harold G. Kristjanson, 37, of Winnipeg, whose parents live in Geraldton, Ont., and Edward Cannon, 50, of Cornwall, Ont.

Mrs. Schissler said the rebels told her the men would be held for a few days, would be well-treated, and then released.

'Irresponsibility'

Borrowers 'Amaze' Ex-Loan Collector

OTTAWA (CP) — A lawyer who used to help loan companies collect told the Commons Friday "the thing that amazed me was the extent of irresponsibility" of people who got so far behind in their payments.

John Drysdale (PC—Burnaby-Richmond) made the statement supporting a bill sponsored by Hazen Argue, CCF house leader, to put an interest ceiling of 12 per cent a year on all loans not controlled by federal law.

Jaycees Cite LCB, MPH

VANCOUVER (CP) — A three-man liquor control board, permanent vehicle licences and a 90 mph speed limit were called for Friday by B.C. and Yukon Jaycees.

Simpler Tax Law

OTTAWA (CP) — A complete overhaul of Canada's income tax laws — to make them understandable to the taxpayers and easier to administer — was suggested in the Commons Friday by an Ontario Liberal.

William L. Houck, Niagara Falls, said during the budget debate that "one of the strongest counts in the indictment against the income tax is its complexity."

"Everybody is over-taxed and the middle class . . . is being taxed out of existence."

Cancer Fear Fatal to Family

SUNDERLAND, England (UPI) — Fear wrote a tragic variation to cancer's theme of death for the Swan family.

James Edgar Swan, a 52-year-old water company employee, felt the pain and horror of a malignant tumor growing in his stomach.

"I can't bear the thought of the misery I will bring to my wife and son," he wrote to a friend.

"We three are very close and I think it would be best if we stayed together at the end."

In the next few minutes last Tuesday Swan enacted this deadly drama:

He walked into his son Richard's bedroom, stunned the boy with a cricket bat and quickly strangled him with a stocking.

Then he went into the kitchen and killed his 43-year-old wife, Catherine, with a single, powerful, downward stroke of the bat.

"He carried the dead woman into the bedroom," an inquest was told yesterday, "and laid her lovingly beside their son."

Swan then turned on the kitchen gas oven. He died there.

The coroner wrote the final shocking lines of the story:

"Swan was not suffering from cancer and no medical authority ever told him he was. His fear of cancer was completely groundless. He had a slight duodenal ulcer."

ALL ABOARD

With G. E. Mortimore

THE two little boys take a vivid interest in the world and all the creatures in it. Their zeal to observe things that fly, crawl and swim lights a new flame of interest in the dull grown-up brain.

In the morning there is a crow that yells at them from a tree near their window. They yell back, a bird and two boys apparently trading insults.

The news that there was a heron on the wharf brought them running sleepy-eyed from their beds the other morning to stare at the lank bird as it stood half-coiled for flight. The boys were so excited that they talked too loudly, and the heron flew away on big, slow wings. A few minutes later it was back, and the boys pressed their noses against the window, talking in whispers.

* * *

John runs in pursuit of "night moffs" as they come beating their soft wings toward the light. The Miriam Thomas School, where the two boys have been going, teaches them to observe moths, butterflies and all kinds of wild things.

At their grandmother's house there is a small bright green tree-frog that hops from the rose bush to a window sill, and likes to make its way to the narrow end of the sill, right inside the sitting room.

The boys had heard about this tiny house-guest, and plagued us to take them to see it. As it happened, the frog wasn't at his usual stand. But the same frog, or another one just like him, was at the other side of the house, sitting on the bathroom window sill.

The boys asked to be held up so that they could have a better view. They gazed entranced at the frog as it sat there with its throat fluttering.

* * *

Later the boys' attention was drawn to the dry machine-gun rattle of broom pods flinging out their seeds.

And Michael sat on the front steps for about 10 minutes inspecting a beetle that was colored such a bright green and gold that it seemed artificial, until it destroyed its own jewelled perfection by spreading its wings and flying off.

Every now and then a cloud of baby catfish appears in the shallows of the lake. The fish are black and whiskered, each one of them a perfectly formed miniature catfish.

John rushes to get a bucket, and scoops out half a dozen from the flock. At one time he was eager to put them in with our goldfish, but the goldfish gobbled them up so quickly that he begged me to rescue the survivors, which I did, with some trouble.

* * *

There is a particularly large assortment of mallard broods on the lake this year, ranging from small blobs of down to three-quarters grown ducks. The mothers and the ducklings fight savagely with each other for pieces of bread.

"Those are all mother ducks," said John, pointing to one well-grown brood.

"No," he was told. "They're like big boys and girls who go to high school and still live at home."

"Next year they'll be mother ducks," the boy said, "and the lake will be all covered over with ducks."

Hans Andersen Fairy Tale

Famous Toy Store Given to Poor Tots

COPENHAGEN (UPI)—Toymaker Ronald Thorngreen announced yesterday he was giving one of the world's biggest toy stores to its best customers—the children of Denmark.

He said Thorngreen's House of Toys, a favorite haunt of fairy tale writer Hans Christian Andersen, would be placed in trust to benefit needy children. Thorngreen is the third member of his family to head the 127-year-old, five storey toy store.

"We earned all our money from children," he told a press conference on the eve of his 70th birthday, "so it comes quite naturally to us to give the money back to those children who never met the joy that toys may give.

"The best thing in life is to watch the children when they get the toys they like. But I have always felt unhappy when I saw poor children standing looking into the shop windows with no hope of getting the lovely toys inside," he said.

"Now and then I used to give them a doll, or perhaps a toy car. I like dolls—maybe because I never became the great fashion designer I once wanted to be."

Andersen, who entertained the world's children with his fairy tales, often would stand for hours outside Thorngreen's windows watching children's reactions to the toys in the store.

Folies Girls Put on Show For One Man

LONDON (AP)—The lord chamberlain has ordered the Paris Folies Bergere to change the show a bit for tonight's London premiere.

If it doesn't, he said Friday night, it won't go on.

The threatened ban came after the girls of the world famous nude show danced into the early hours Friday for a one-man audience. The lucky male was R. J. Hill, representing the lord chamberlain.

London producer James T. Laurie was irked.

"In Paris, the Folies Bergere director allows children into any performance as he maintains that if you see anything indecent there it's not on the stage but in your mind."

'Glass House' Packs It Up

Detention will almost be a pleasure for B.C.-based members of the three armed services after July 15—they'll be given a trip to Calgary and Edmonton barracks to serve their time.

The "glass house" No. 15 Service Detention Barracks at Work Point, will close down July 15 and staff of the camp will be posted to provost duties in other parts of the country.

Lieut. James Lumsden, officer commanding the barracks, will be moved to Kingston and attached to the Central Command Provost Detachment.

City Alderman 22 Years, R. A. C. Dewar Dies at 79

R. A. C. (Bob) Dewar, a Victoria alderman for 22 years including 20 years served consecutively, died here yesterday at the age of 79.

Well-known to thousands of city residents, he worked for the B.C. Electric as a streetcar operator for 47 years, retiring at the end of 1944.

An enthusiastic bowler, he took a keen interest in the sport even in his later years. He won many trophies in competition.

Mr. Dewar was a professional lacrosse player in his youth and refereed professional lacrosse games on the west coast after quitting the game.

He had lived in Victoria 61 years and was born in Paisley, Ont. He would have celebrated his 80th birthday in December.

He was a member of Court Victoria, AOF, St. Andrew's Lodge, AF & AM, and the Victoria Lawn Bowling Club.

During his term on council he was chairman of the old lands, zoning and housing committees and the Memorial Arena committee. He was also a member of the water board and aviation committee.

He maintained his interest in city affairs after retiring from council in 1947 and was always ready to talk about civic affairs and the earlier days of the city.

He is survived by his widow, Martha Mary, at the residence, 3006 Fifth Street; three daughters, Mrs. W. G. Vanderlip (Edna), and Mrs. H. M. Houston (Bernice), of Victoria, and Mrs. R. M. McLennan (Dorothy), of Deep Cove. Eight grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren also survive.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later by McCall Bros.

Eleven Slugs, Drops Dead

SCHOENECK, France (Reuters) — A local tavern-keeper has been cleared by a court of an involuntary homicide charge after a client, for a bet, drank 11 glasses of whisky and dropped dead. The court ruled the bar owner was "not responsible for the stupidity of his client."

Paul S. Jagger is the new president of Asbestos Cement Products Ltd. of North Surrey, B.C. He has purchased the company from former owner Paul Aivazoff.

Stay Out of Court, Doctors Told

'Don't Play God'

High Cost of Malpractice Alarms U.S. Physicians

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A psychologist, diagnosing ills of doctors who get sued, told the American Medical Association yesterday that physicians can stay out of court by resisting the temptation to "play the God-like role."

Richard Bloom, research director of the California Medical Society, unloaded his frank remarks about "suit-prone" doctors at the annual meeting of the AMA here, saying:

"These unrealistic doctors are likely to think of themselves as all-knowing; they are less concerned with the human side of medical practice; they tend to be strong disciplinarians and they try to protect their patients from the medical facts."

California leads the nation in the patients-suing-doctors situation with about one physician in 10 having been named in a suit.

And, he revealed, it is costly to the profession, since the cost of insuring California doctors against malpractice has shot up from $1,850,000 in 1951 to around $12,000,000 this year.

The doctor who is sued for malpractice, according to the psychologist, very often resembles the patient who is suing—from a psychological point of view.

He said both are "suspicious, immature, difficult to get along with, have a low opinion of self and crave approval. Plus that," he said, "they both are fearful."

Robeson Can Travel, London Next Stop

CHARLES LAUGHTON
. . . that fellow—out!

NEW YORK—Singer Paul Robeson and Professor Corliss Lamont have received passports they have been trying to obtain for years.

Robeson has been trying since 1950 to acquire the green book necessary to go abroad. Lamont, lecturer at Columbia, has been unsuccessful since 1951.

They were denied passports because of refusal to answer questions about Communist party membership.

The Supreme Court has ruled that a passport could not be withheld because of beliefs.

Robeson will fly to London soon for stage, TV and radio appearances.

LONDON—Charles Laughton stopped a play here when a heckler shouted from the audience. Laughton, acting the role of a drunken father in "The Party," said: "We will have that troublesome fellow out." The heckler was escorted out. Laughton apologized to the audience and the show went on.

* * *

NEW YORK — Madame Chiang Kai-shek declares that Russia—not Red China—still directs Communist strategy in Asia. "Whatever Peiping does is at the behest of the Kremlin," she said.

* * *

STRATFORD, Ont.—Mayor Nathan Phillips of Toronto fell down five steps at a performance of the Stratford Festival and fractured a small bone in his upper right arm.

* * *

LINCOLN, England—Britain's wettest June for years upset a royal visit here. An open-air Morris dance for the Queen and Prince Philip was abandoned and 11,000 schoolchildren, kept under cover, sang community songs instead.

* * *

WASHINGTON — Spring blooms eternal once more under the white-thatched locks of 79-year-old Rep. Usher Burdick. His pretty young wife is coming home. Mrs. Jean Rodgers Burdick, 30, said she loved her husband and wanted to end the separation punctuated by Burdick's annulment suit on grounds their marriage never was consumated.

* * *

OTTAWA—Douglas Fuher (CCF, Port Arthur) queried the prime minister yesterday on a charge that 500 employees left crown-owned Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation because of poor working conditions and were not laid off in an economy move. Prime Minister Diefenbaker said he would look into the matter.

* * *

ROME — Marilyn Monroe Friday was declared the best foreign actress of 1957-58 by an Italian public opinion poll and the decision of a special jury. Charles Laughton and Marion Brando were adjudged the best foreign actors and "Bridge on the River Kwai" the best foreign film.

PAUL ROBESON

'Peace' at War with Edmonton

PEACE RIVER, Alta. (CP) —Growing animosity towards Edmonton passed the "word" stage Friday in this northwestern Alberta community as residents fumed over the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce decision to support officially the McMurray rail route to Great Slave Lake.

Joe Ersfeldt, operator of Joe's Electric here, said he interpreted the Edmonton chamber's move as meaning Edmonton businessmen didn't want to do business with the Peace River country.

Thursday he sent an Edmonton electrical salesman packing when the salesman came in to renew an annual $105,000 order with Joe's Electric.

Mr. Ersfeldt said he now would direct his business to Vancouver.

The Edmonton chamber Wednesday announced it will not support the Grimshaw route, which is favored by Peace River residents and is in the midst of the northern half of the Alberta Peace.

West Germany's first school for trained meteorologists opened at Munich on June 16.

Atom Bomb Pioneer A Suicide

CHICAGO (UPI)—Atomic mathematician Donald E. Flanders of Vermont, was found dead yesterday. Police said he committed suicide with an overdose of sleeping pills.

He had complained recently of "overwork" in his present position as director of the applied mathematics division at Argonne National Laboratory, an Atomics Energy Commission installation near Chicago, a family spokesman said.

His wife, Sarah, found a handwritten note which said: "I can't bear to go into the laboratory. There are too many decisions and I feel I am not capable of making them. I am worth more in dollars dead than alive."

Air Report Says:

Enough Traffic For Two Lines

By TOM GREEN
Special to the Colonist

OTTAWA—The potential of air traffic in Canada will now support a second transcontinental airline, in competition with Trans Canada Air Lines, according to a confidential government report.

The report, prepared for the air transport board by Stephen Wheatcroft, a British expert in the economics of air transportation, will be tabled in the House of Commons on Monday.

After a lengthy study of air transport in Canada, Mr. Wheatcroft concluded that TCA is now in a position where it can face competition from private airlines in domestic routes.

NON-PROFIT ROUTES

The report will emphasize, however, that any new private airlines must be ready to operate services on some non-profitable routes in Canada as well as on the paying routes.

Mr. Wheatcroft was commissioned to make the study following an announcement in Timmins, Ontario, last February by Transport Minister George Hees that government policy favored competition for TCA. He said in the Timmins speech that the plan was to eliminate the TCA monopoly on domestic routes by the gradual introduction of competition. The air transport board, he said, would be in charge of the development.

APPLICATIONS FILED

Applications to operate on transcontinental air routes have already been filed by two private companies, Canadian Pacific Airlines and Pacific Western Airlines.

TCA showed a surplus of $404,674 last year, the seventh year in a row in which the publicly-owned line has shown a profit. Last year it carried 2,392,713 passengers, an increase of 154 per cent over the previous year.

One Caught, Other Sought At Terrace

TERRACE, B.C. (CP)—Police continued their hunt for a second man in dense bush near here Friday after picking up one suspect in connection with Thursday's $12,000 holdup of the Terrace branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Inspector H. E. Bloxham of Prince Rupert, in charge of the holdup investigation, said the man was taken from a truck stopped by an RCMP roadblock at Salvus, 38 miles west of here.

Inspector Bloxham said the man, a passenger, had apparently slipped through one road block.

The suspect was taken to Prince Rupert, 80 miles west of here, and then returned to Terrace for possible identification.

Britons Slosh In Streets

LONDON (Reuters) — Drenched Britons sloshed through flooded streets Friday as the heaviest rainfall in years sent water spilling over main traffic arteries, pushed rivers over their banks and cut off several villages.

Hundreds of cars were stranded and rail traffic was disrupted by rain that fell almost continuously for 24 hours in some sections of the country. About 10 square miles of countryside were under water in the Essex-Hertfordshire area north of London.

Meanwhile, 44 inches of rain fell in 54 hours in Paris—a record for June in this century.

Canadian Citizenship

AS Canada grows in stature Canadian citizenship will come to imply progressively more. For that reason we agree with many of the remarks made by Judge J. B. Clearihue at a citizenship induction held in the Victoria court house this week. No individual can live successfully with split loyalties; one to the country of his origin, and the other to that of his adoption. When the oath of citizenship is taken it must be complete and entire, otherwise it could have little meaning. Were there room for divided loyalties, Canada with its open-door policy of immigration would be fostering an indirect and growing balkanization of its population which could in time deny the basic concepts it has grown up with.

His Honor perhaps was less fortunate in his choice of one or two analogies to illustrate the basic need for undivided loyalty to Canada as an adopted land. The arts, skills, folklore, dancing and other social and civilizing attributes of our new citizens are in sum a very valuable asset to this nation. Nor could anyone in reason ask that the newcomers forget the land of their birth or that in it which may be dear and memorable to them. We can see no harm, therefore, in expressions of goodwill to other nationalities, where these are without political or other undertones reflecting in any sense on this land. After all, Canada stands for goodwill among the free and peaceful nations of the world, and it is that credo which attracts the swelling stream of immigration to our shores.

What the distinguished jurist may well have had in mind when he spoke of visiting foreign royalty and other occasions that have been the subject of former allegiance welcomes rests on the borderline, perhaps, of other relationships which have not always been so easy to understand. There is no room in this country for the parroted slogans of Communism, for example. It sits ill to hear at times ex-nationals raise cries to banners which no true Canadian would follow. For these are political concepts and at variance with thinking in this land. So Judge Clearihue's comment on the need for clear and undivided loyalties within the terms and usages of freedom was timely and will be understood.

New Canadians or old, we have a vast land to share which is at the threshold of a bright future. We shall enter that best by pulling together as a united team with all of the human assets, skills and abilities which we can muster.

Curfew on Teen-Age Drivers

RETURNING to the subject of juvenile hooliganism, bottle smashing and vandalism generally at beaches and parks after dark, and the difficulties of police in controlling same, it might be useful to point out that there is a possible remedy —though whether or not the authorities in this region would be game to try it is another matter. The suggestion — not original — is to put a curfew on minors using cars. Nearly all the nocturnal trouble is caused by youths and girls who congregate at these places in automobiles.

The State of New York recently put such a restraint into force, with what success we have not yet heard. A few days ago a juvenile court judge in the State of Maryland added his opinion that a boy or girl in the late teens is "too young to be turned loose with a car at night." The judge spoke from personal experience, having tried more than 20,000 cases involving juvenile waywardness. Under the New York law minors must restrict their driving to the hours of daylight, and a juvenile may operate a car at night only if accompanied by an adult. It is not an unreasonable law when all factors are examined, though perhaps it could be modified to allow night driving under parental permission, to accommodate juveniles having occasion to drive for legitimate purposes.

In the late teens a high proportion of delinquency problems can be traced to the use of cars. Under a curfew law there need be no hardship or embarrassment to decently behaved youngsters using cars for the purpose of transport. With respect to bad performers, the authority of the police to chase them home or if necessary make arrests would be reinforced if a curfew was there to fall back on in the absence of a more specific charge. It is worth considering.

Assurance Needed

WITH due respect to Health Minister Eric Martin, why should British Columbia taxpayers wait for a year before learning what the provincial government intends to do about federal reimbursement to the Province of one-half of the costs of national hospital insurance? Regardless of the sum involved, and that may require time to learn, the principle is there and it applies now. On July 1 the Dominion will become sponsor of the scheme, in association with such of the Provinces as are ready to enter into agreements on it. A very considerable rebate is in prospect for the provincial treasury out of funds to be put up by provincial taxpayers as such.

If this rebate, to the order of $12,000,000 or so, is to be handed back to the provincial taxpayers the government should say so now; if for no other reason than to avoid the suspicion of attempting to pouch the rebate for other provincial needs. Only the Legislature can enact provincial taxation or its change in British Columbia. If an overplus occurs on any provincial tax now levied, and that is the prospect, cabinet action cannot alone devise its rearrangement without the consent of the House. No government can either make or unmake tax law. What we asked, and what the public is clearly expecting, is the official assurance that the provincial government recognizes this refund as a rebate, and not merely as an accession of $12,000,000 more to its budget. It should not take a year to say what will be done.

Leave Them Down!

THE Centennial Committee which sponsored the 64 self-deflating, second-hand balloons as part of Victoria's special decorations was on the right track on Thursday when it decided to take the remnants down. It has been given credit for a good try, but at this point the experiment should be written off and forgotten. The committee has only to leave all the balloons down now to earn the sincere thanks of the community. Fresh bunting on the light standards is a good idea and should be proceeded with; but no more balloons and no "last gasp," please!

Interpreting the News

Lebanon Situation Is Thorny

By DAVID ROWNTREE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

FEW actions could be surer to please Russia's leaders at the moment than Western action in Lebanon.

Today, any action by Great Britain and the United States to help put down the rebellion that threatens both Lebanon and the whole Middle East would at the same time take a lot of the heat off Russians at a time when people everywhere are sickened by the executions of Imre Nagy and other leaders of the revolt in Hungary two years ago.

* * *

Neutral leaders such as Prime Minister Nehru of India, President Tito of Yugoslavia and Prime Minister U Nu of Burma appear to be more disenchanted with the Russians than they have for some time.

It is in this climate that Lebanon has renewed its pathetic appeal for help to Dag Hammarskjold, secretary-general of the United Nations.

The UN has 100 men in Lebanon watching the border with Syria, now a province of President Nasser's United Arab Republic which Lebanon says is supporting the rebels.

This force can only observe and report—not prevent action. Premier Sami es Solh and President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon want the observer team turned into a much more powerful police force with the task of sealing off the Syrian borders and quelling the fighting.

This would require approval by the Security Council, where Russia has given advance notice she would oppose the move; or the General Assembly, where the West is confident of support. There is no veto in the Assembly.

John Foster Dulles has said there are other ways the United States could intervene in the Lebanese situation than through the UN. He has not gone into details, but a three-country declaration by Britain, France and the U.S. to preserve peace in the Middle East is still in effect.

The British, to use the foreign office phrase, have been "watching the situation closely." There was speculation that the build-up of troop strength on Cyprus was not only to maintain order on that troubled island, but also to have men and arms closer to Lebanon. This was denied officially.

There's still bad blood between the Hatfields and McCoys

Reports from Ottawa

THE government's capital investment program to beat the recession is beautifully simple and logical. It is based on three premises:

1. The capital investment boom sparked the country's post-war prosperity.

2. The waning of that boom tipped the economy into the present mild recession, and,

3. The creation by artificial means of a new investment boom should tilt the economy upwards again and sustain it at a reasonably active level until the arrival of what Finance Minister Fleming described as "the new period of business expansion which will not be long delayed."

Government encouragement of easier credit is a facet of this program—it encourages industry to borrow for capital purposes. Tax reductions and increased transfer payments (i.e., higher social security benefits and provincial grants) are complementary to the program.

* * *

Capital investment by the business sector began to fall off last year with the completion of expansion programs designed to meet current and anticipated market demand. This was particularly true of resources industries such as mining, which plotted their expansion programs in the light of the world supply and demand imbalance.

Last year the business sector put $6,116,000,000 into new plant and equipment. This year the estimated outlay is $5,559,000,000, or a drop of $557,000,000.

Last year capital investment in the non-business sector (i.e., all governments, all institutions such as hospitals and universities, and all housing) totalled $2,993,000,000. This year the estimated outlay is $3,410,000,000, or an increase of $417,000,000.

Thus prospective capital investment this year is some $140,000,000 less than last year. But it would have been hugely under last year's total had the federal government not decided to plug another $400,000,000 into housing loans this year. And had it not decided that this was no time for government-owned businesses to cut back their capital programs. For example, a substantial part of a $250,000,000 government loan to the CNR will be used for new railway plant.

* * *

The government's anticipated cash deficiency of $1,400,000,000 this year is thus more the true measure of the federal anti-recession program than the forecast budgetary deficit of $648,000,000.

The gamble is whether the spending of this amount of money atop "normal" government spending—the money which will be collected in taxes and spent for myriad governmental purposes—will take the country around the economic corner.

Two considerations are worth noting here. One is that most capital investment outside the business sector does not create or give rise to continuing economic activity like the construction of a new factory or the opening of a new mine. The other is that governmental pump priming can scarcely create foreign demand for our products.

Fortunately exports are holding up fairly well, being down less than 2 per cent in a January-to-April comparison with 1957. If they slip, or if a renewal of business expansion is too long delayed—well, those are among the possibilities which the government fervently hopes will not arise.

Australia's Labor Laws

The Sacred Cow

Fifth of a series of six articles by a widely experienced Australian journalist

By FRED NOSSAL

LAWYERS have been the predominant element in the industrial tribunals from the inception of compulsory arbitration in Australia.

But a number of non-lawyers do act as conciliators and arbitrators particularly in the Commonwealth and Queensland State jurisdictions, and in the wages board systems.

The law about the right of appearance before these tribunals is rather complex. As regards "judicial" matters such as imposition of penalties and enforcement of industrial awards, lawyers may appear as of right.

But in the "arbitral" sphere they are admitted only on certain conditions—by consent of the other party, by permission of the tribunal or both.

In practice, the necessary consent is generally given, and lawyers often appear before the Commonwealth and New South Wales industrial tribunals, especially when there are cases dealing with important industrial issues.

* * *

By contrast, the wages board tribunals continue rigorously to exclude members of the legal profession from their sittings, except in the rare cases when lawyers are directly involved as parties.

There is a general prejudice against the right of lawyers to practice before the tribunals. The claim is made that lawyers will, for their own benefit and that of their clients, produce interminable legal argument directed not at the true merit of the case, but merely at scoring some legal point.

The lawyers are annoyed about this because they say the record of lay advocates and of trade union secretaries who do appear before these tribunals is scarcely better.

"Endless repetition of evidence by employers' advocates and trade union secretaries has served merely to prolong the hearing of vital issues," one lawyer explained.

* * *

The high-level legal opinion in Australia is that there is, at the constitutional level, a very real need to widen the scope of the Commonwealth labor powers.

It is unlikely that any change—within the federal system — would completely do away with the complex problems of constitutional legalisms, but most lawyers agree that it could go a long way toward remedying an expensive and chronic malady.

Criticism of Australia's compulsory arbitration system is frequently linked with the cry that it should be replaced with a system of collective bargaining.

But unionists here say it involves a lot more than an informal meeting of employer and employee representatives settling quickly and harmoniously issues dividing them.

As the system has developed in the U.S., Britain and other countries, they point out, it means a set of arrangements and procedures just as complex and at times as long-winded as this country's arbitration system.

* * *

In other words, they are afraid that Australia would have to relinquish one set of values (which is well known to all) for another, unknown set—with no real assurance that it would be an improvement on the existing system.

Australians preserve their arbitration system because it is an Australian institution with an Australian tradition. It has become a sacred cow in the Australian way of life.

Present feeling in Australia is that realistic thinking on our arbitration and conciliation system should be focused not on how to get rid of it, but how to improve it and adapt it to the changing pattern of the nation's economic and political life.

The Packsack

Or GREGORY CLARK

WHEN you step on an ant, you bring to an abrupt end something that has existed continuously, from ant to ant, for countless ages back to the origin of life on this now crowded, murderous planet.

The ant's ancestors were here in Richard the Lion Heart's time, in Caesar's, Nebuchadnezzar's. Before you stepped on it, that ant probably looked more like its ancestors than you look like yours when both the ant and your multiple great-grandpa and grandma lived in a hole in the hill.

The ant and you are contemporaries. Or were, until you stepped on it, and so wrote finis to the profoundest mystery, time.

That we should have survived the ice ages, one after another, is much to our credit as a species. But we were nimble. We had longish legs, even if a little bowed. We could, in a fashion, think. We could run. Over hill and dale, over mountain and around lakes and seas we could retreat as, year by year and generation by generation, the vast ice caps ground swollen southward. Where we finally hid is not yet on the record.

But where did this squashed ant's ancestors hide? On their flimsy legs, how did they retreat? In view of this planet's already tough history, isn't being an ant something fairly distinguished?

Don't Go Away Mad

(From St. Thomas Times Journal)

ONE of the worst things a man can do, safety officers will say, is to drive a car when emotionally upset.

Anger is an emotional upset. In that mood a driver is liable to jam his gasoline pedal down to the floor as if grinding his opponent under his heel.

A cool, calm state of mind is essential for anyone driving a car. When anger or distress of any kind takes precedence in a man's head, instead of concentrating on his job of driving he puts himself and other users of the road in a dangerous situation.

On the Record

Does Defence Make Sense?

By DOROTHY THOMPSON

A CORRESPONDENT with qualifications I do not possess has written me regarding United States military policy — [illegible] foreign policy — which he declares to be devoid of logical reasoning, enclosing a manuscript summarizing his ideas on future war. The writer has held commissions in the U.S. air force and army and served some years on active duty on both fronts in the Second World War. He is now teaching in a university.

He writes modestly, confessing to having failed to find a publisher for a small book he worked on since 1953 and summarized in his letter to me. "Perhaps this is because I have nothing of value to offer, but I feel that it is largely because my ideas jar head-on with the 'line' from Washington."

* * *

I am no military expert, but many of the questions he raises have long existed in my own mind.

We are certainly preparing for a future war, as are the Soviets. One may try to dismiss the idea as mutually suicidal and therefore "impossible," as President Eisenhower reiterates, but the policies being pursued do not eliminate its possibility or even probability. My correspondent does not think such a war impossible, because he does not believe it need be "mutually suicidal." But if it is fought, how will it be fought?

The public is continually alerted to the danger of mass extermination. If our civil defence and other officials really think this is likely, they are extremely remiss in their duty. The shelter signs, road signs, and the mock atomic raids, in which announcers report how many millions have been killed here and there, are childish. If a future full-scale war is to take that form, the only defence is to abolish great cities immediately, decentralize industry, build underground transportation systems, and revolutionize our whole way of life before it's done for us.

The public clearly doesn't think that the wolves will follow the wolf-criers. The drift to the great cities continues unabated. There is no rush to a Thoreau-like existence in the woods.

* * *

But my correspondent thinks this picture of future war between great powers unrealistic. Against the intercontinental ballistic guided missile there is no defence in the usual sense of the word. There is no remote possibility that a determined attack by an enemy on a given point or points could be checked by the "shooting down" method, which, to be effective, would have to be 100 per cent so. For, when nuclear warheads can be mounted in missiles capable of razing hundreds of square miles of territory in one blast, just one arriving at its planned target would be wholly effective.

But at what targets?

If military policy rests on the theory of massive retaliation the only logical target would be the delivery machine of the enemy. A country deprived, at the outset, of the ability to deliver nuclear weapons has lost the war. It is as simple as that.

Therefore, what must be defended, and in fact the only thing that can be defended, both for deterrence and retaliation, is the delivery potential of the nation.

It is for defence of this that we need underground fortresses to house the missile potential, warheads, launching machines, and the men to service them. Armies, navies, manned planes are already obsolete. And, argues my correspondent, all these fortresses would be best located on the North American continent where there is space for the absorption of the power of attacking weapons without hurt to civilian populations.

* * *

The leading geopoliticians of the last 50 years have dwelt upon distance and space as the chief problems of warfare. The intercontinental missile overcomes distance but not space. The crowded countries of Europe and Asia are not suitable for defence in the nuclear age. They cannot place nuclear fortresses (the only possible threat to the enemy) on their territory without endangering their whole populations, and all of them are waking up to this. Only nations with space can contend—at present only two: the U.S.A. and the U.S.S.R.

It would be better if they decided not to contend. This does not change my correspondent's argument that we are taking a great many senseless, obsolete measures and leaving undone the central, essential necessities of the defence of ourselves or anyone else.

Letters to the Editor

Senatorial Ethics

The Canadian Senate, made up of about 100 aging if not aged gentlemen, frequently has trouble in assembling a quorum of 16. And we were told in recent issues of the press that on an occasion when the whips of both parties tried to summon more members they could go only one at a time or there would be no quorum and consequently no session.

That means of course that many senators have enjoyed fondays with pay, $ some per year [illegible] to hope that the moral and business ethics of the Canadian people are at least on a slightly higher level than are those of some who accept appointments to our Senate?

Preserving History

The householders in the new home at the southwest corner of Rockland Avenue and Moss Street have created a spot of beauty and at the same time have preserved the historic and very splendid stone and iron gates of "Gisburn." They have skilfully, and with much imagination and hard work, combined the old and the new, and the result is a corner of beauty and history.

Behind these wonderful old gates of "Gisburn" once stood a large mansion, built in 1890 by Robert Irving, and for many years the residence of the late Mr. and Mrs. John A. Rithet.

In too many instances are such historic gates and fences mowed down by bulldozers, when they might be left standing and put to modern use, as has been done with the "Gisburn" gates.

The people here concerned are to be congratulated, and thanked, for what they have done to preserve this bit of our history.

Back the Ferries

There is a quick way of earning enough money to pay the crews of the coast steamers and also make a profit to pay for the upkeep of the ships and wharves. This way is within the reach of every person in Victoria who travels on foot or car.

The two fine vessels now in use were built before the air passenger service began to invade the steamship passenger service. Let everybody return to the old way and travel by steamer on the sea and enjoy the Gulf Islands. Even today, when there is a thick fog in the air there is a rush to the steam vessels. For many years the ferry vessels from Victoria to Vancouver have been run at a loss, as the company has done its best for years to give good service to a diminishing number of passengers.

Land folk should remember that the running of steam or motor ships is not like any other trade or industry, and requires years of special training. The ocean is always liable to sudden changes and it requires trained sea officers to navigate ships safely. The writer has used the CP Coast ships for over 40 years and has his records on file.

Boy Hangs in Tree

Rash of Mishaps Rushes Hospital

Accidents in the Greater Victoria area brought a rush of business to Royal Jubilee Hospital emergency ward between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m. yesterday.

At 1.58 p.m. city police were called to the 1200 block of Rudlin. There they found that four-year-old Darrel Jackson, of 1225 Rudlin, had run out from the sidewalk in front of a car driven by Hugh A. Andrews, 1903 Belmont.

Taken to hospital in police ambulance, the boy was treated for head cuts. He was X-rayed, and admitted for observation.

Police received a call at 12.30 p.m. from 325 Stannard, reporting a boy hanging in a tree.

Speeding to the scene, officers found that Ronald Ramsay, 6, of 1512 Brooke, had been climbing in a big apple tree in a field between Stannard and St. Charles. He slipped, fell, and was caught by his neck and his sweater about 12 feet above ground.

Neighbors had already raised a ladder and were freeing the boy from his position.

Third city accident was at 11.45 a.m., when city police took Blair MacLean, 18, of 63 Linden, to Royal Jubilee Hospital from the B.C. Forest Products plywood plant, suffering a leg injury.

X-rays disclosed the youth's ankle was not broken. He was treated and released.

Earlier David Walker, 27, of 603 Wilson, was injured in an accident at Victoria College.

He was one of a group of men employed in demolishing an old building behind the college. A wall of a room collapsed and struck Walker, injuring his hip and knee.

Saanich police took him to Royal Jubilee Hospital, where again X-rays proved negative. He was treated and released.

Jobless Total Holds Steady At High Level

The high level of unemployment in Victoria failed to improve this past week, National Employment Office figures showed yesterday.

Number of job-seekers registered was 3,496 men and 1,556 women for a total of 5,052. Figure for the week before was 3,341 men and 1650 women for a total of 4,991.

Officials said a change in the number of berry-pickers registered made the unemployment totals for the two weeks just about the same.

They said there was steady registration during the past week of shipyard workers, men thrown out of work by woods closures, and numbers of unskilled workers.

The island of Malta, British fortress in the Mediterranean, covers only 54 square miles.

'Divorcee' Bilked Of $200,000, Returns to Hubby

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The young wife whose $200,000 inheritance wound up in the pockets of a Texas cowboy she met while awaiting divorce action at Reno, Nev., was reunited with her minister husband here yesterday.

The Rev. James A. Doubleday said he and his wife, Barbara, were "reconciled." He added that "there would be no divorce." The couple has two sons, Michael 8, and David, 6.

But the "inside" story of the minister's wife and the cowboy remained the inside story.

The calm, young rector of the Grace Episcopal Church in Kirkwood remained courteous, but threw up an impenetrable barrier against persistent questions from reporters.

Headspeth was arrested in Miami, Fla., by agents of the federal bureau of investigation, who said he had $2,300 cash in his possession and $184,300 in a hotel safety deposit box. He also owned a 1958 Mercedes Benz sports car, purchased in Miami for $9,000 cash.

Mrs. Doubleday said the money was kept in her car which Headspeth stole at Tucson and drove to Phoenix, Ariz., earlier this month. She added that she met the cowboy in Reno where she had gone to file a divorce action.

Centennial Flag Fine If Below

The B.C. centennial flag may be flown properly on the same staff as a Union Jack or Canadian ensign, provided it is flown below the flag of the nation.

Deputy provincial secretary R. A. Pennington, authority, voiced the ruling yesterday.

The practice of flying the centennial flag under the ensign earlier brought reproaches from several Victoria residents.

However, to fly the flag of another nation beneath the Union Jack or the national ensign on the same flagstaff would be an insult to the other nation. This would denote a victory of the nation represented by the top flag over the nation represented by the lower flag.

THE VOICE OF ONE

By REV. DR. FRANK S. MORLEY

A religious journal advertises a book on Jesus Christ as "a wholesome book written without venom." O blessed and remarkable book! Is it possible? Verily many an anguished ghost moans in the hills tonight!

Think of that Spanish monarch, Charles V, who instructed his armies in Holland that heretics "who remain obstinate in their errors should be burned alive and those who repent should be beheaded." Or that very Christian II of Denmark who invited 80 heretics to a banquet and slaughtered them. The female of the species is quite as deadly as the male. Catherine de Medici organized the slaughter of thousands of Huguenots in Paris and throughout France on St. Bartholomew's Day. "Bloody Mary" of England burned 288 alive.

"Without venom!" Shades of Torquemada, who sharpened the Inquisition until, as Lecky says, "In every prison the crucifix and rack stood side by side . . . Almost all Europe, for many centuries was inundated with blood, which was shed at the direct instigation or with the full approval of the ecclesiastical authorities . . ."

'Sons of Perdition'

Would Calvin remember Servetus? Would Luther recall his invectives against the Anabaptists, Jews and peasants? How about the writers of some of our creeds which denounce opponents as "imprudent blasphemers" and "sons of perdition?"

Venom came easily and early. James and John wanted to call down fire on a Samaritan village, but Jesus rebuked them. He also changed them so that the letter of James warns against venomous speech while John wrote, "God is love and he that dwelleth in love dwelleth in God and God in him. He that hateth his brother is a murderer."

Such Christian spirit was sorely missing. Marcion, a most lovable Gnostic heretic, met Bishop Polycarp of Smyrna. "Greet me, Polycarp," he besought him. The stern churchman replied, "Yes, I greet you as the first-born of Satan."

Even such a delightful scholar and martyr as Sir Thomas More advocated the burning of Tyndale and his books and called Thomas Hitton, who was burned at the stake, "the devil's stinking martyr." Toplady, who wrote "Rock of Ages," maintained that John Wesley should be "tarred and feathered and driven from the country."

'Defend with Sword'

That attractive saint, Louis IX of France, regarded by the Middle Ages as the ideal Christian monarch, gave the classic advice to his provost-marshal, Joinville, regarding heretics: "No one, unless he is a very learned clerk, should dispute with them: but a layman, when he hears the Christian law mis-said, should not defend the Christian law, unless it be with his sword, and with that he should pierce the mis-sayer to the midriff, so far as the sword will enter."

All of us have followed his advice. So many Christians resemble that "incarnation of morality," Lady Britomart in Shaw's "Major Barbara," "whose conscience is clear and whose duty done when she has called everybody names."

The mainstream of the church's life has carried throughout the world a wondrous kindness and amazing mercy, healing the world's wounds, washing away the world's sorrows, and bringing hope to the outcasts and downtrodden of the earth.

But the fact that a book "written without venom" about Christ is considered noteworthy, suggests how much bitterness abounds, name-calling and persecution. Heresy has always been defined as sinning against Christian truth. One thing we can be sure of, Jesus thought of heresy as a sin against Christian love. Read the story of the Last Judgment!

Lutherans Call Pastor

Henry W. Behling of Petoskey Michigan, has been called as pastor for the Langford-Sidney parish of the Lutheran Church—Missouri Synod.

Mr. Behling graduated from Concordia Seminary, Springfield, Illinois, on June 4, and was married three days later.

He is expected to arrive here with his wife Sept. 1 to be ordained and installed as pastor of Belmont Lutheran Church, Langford, and of the unorganized Sidney, B.C. station on Sept. 7.

30 Teeners Pray, Play

More than 30 teen-agers from Victoria and up-Island centres are attending a week-end camp at the United Church's Moorecroft Camp at Nanoose Bay.

As part of the church's Hi-C program, the youths will work, pray and play, said Rev. C. Leighton Streight, convenor of Victoria presbytery Christian education committee, sponsors of the week-end.

Rev. Robert Wallace of Lake Cowichan will be chief speaker. Also attending will be Rev. Laura Butler of Metropolitan United Church.

"A Forest Fire" is the topic of a sermon Very Rev. Dr. J. Lewis W. McLean will deliver at the evening service in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. His morning topic is "God's Creation."

Fund $47,000 For St. Mary's

More than $47,000 has been raised toward construction of a new St. Mary's Anglican Church in Oak Bay.

H. J. Evenett, chairman of the fund-raising campaign, said the drive would be completed in a month or six weeks, at which time a start on the church will be considered.

The "hypothetical" figure set for the campaign was $175,000, the estimated cost of the proposed concrete church to seat 700.

Supply Ministers Set

Supply ministers for First United Church this summer will be Rev. Robert R. Cunningham of St. Andrew's-Wesley United Church, Vancouver, from July 6 to 13, and Rev. Dr. J. A. Boorman of Montreal, Que., from Aug. 10 to 17.

Moral Re-Armament

Ideological Shock Troops

NEW YORK (CP)—It may not be true that Moral Re-Armament will save the world, but a lot of people say it will.

MRA, a non-denominational movement, has captured supporters of every race around the world with its teachings of "absolute" virtues and its own particular emphasis on brotherhood and understanding.

Among its many pursuits, MRA seeks to promote peace between industrialists and labor chiefs. In the ideological battle against communism, MRA men claim the role of shock troops.

"We are going not to the left, nor to the right, but straight," says Dr. Frank N. D. Buchman, 80, founder and head of the movement which grew from the Oxford Group of the 1920s and early 1930s.

MRA teaches "absolute love, absolute unselfishness, absolute honesty and absolute purity." Followers recognize that none of these concepts is new, and that all are basic in many religions. Says Dr. Buchman, who terms MRA an ideology:

"We have never had a formal organization. There is no set creed. We accept anyone from any church or religion. The person-to-person approach is our answer and we have only one basic doctrine: The individual has the power to change himself. First one man changes, then a second, then a third and so on.

"Each person must work out his own pattern of life, with God as his guide. With individuals happy, communities will become content, nations understanding and the world peaceful."

Robber Admits Holdup

Radic, 26, of Port Hardy, pleaded guilty to armed robbery and to carrying an unregistered .38 Colt revolver when he appeared before Magistrate P. G. Lewis yesterday.

Charged with the $1,200 holdup of Salmon River Lodge at Kelsey Bay Thursday morning, he elected trial by magistrate and was remanded until July 8. A Yugoslav, he has been in Canada for five years working as a logger.

A citizens' posse under RCMP direction played flashlights and car headlights on a remote barn in the Sayward area to trap the suspect.

Police said Radic offered no resistance when they walked into the barn to arrest him. They said they recovered a gun and an amount of money.

First Marine Park Nearly Ready

British Columbia's first marine park neared completion yesterday when six anchor floats were set out near the beach at Sidney Spit by park workmen of the department of recreation and conservation. On the shore are six campsites and a picnic area where marine travellers can stay. Park will be ready for use early next month.—(Photo by Flett Studio.)

Lightning Bolt Hits Spire

Fiery Cross Flames

Torrential Rain Lashes Nanaimo

NANAIMO—A fiery cross lit up Wallace Street area during an electrical storm over Nanaimo Thursday night.

At about 10.30 p.m. a lightning bolt smashed into the cross of the spire of the Roman Catholic church. A ball at the base of the 12-foot high cross exploded.

The bolt ripped through the shingled spire for about 40 feet.

RAIN HELPED

Firemen succeeded in extinguishing flames in a few minutes. The torrential rain helped.

During the hour-long storm, B.C. Power Commission transformers were smashed. At least two are beyond repair. Half the city was in darkness for a time.

Telephones were rendered useless; television antennas were struck and sets smashed.

CROPS DAMAGED

Farmers' hay crops were damaged. Flood water poured into basements.

The storm was over almost as quickly as it began, and mopping-up operations continued through the night and part of the way through the next day.

Tributes to Webb

G. Conway Parrott New Chamber Chief

The new board of directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce at a special meeting in Victoria yesterday, elected G. Conway Parrott as president for the 1958-59 term.

Mr. Parrott succeeds Hugh Stephen. He is manager of the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, and has been for many years connected closely with chamber of commerce and publicity bureau work.

New vice-president is W. Allan Pendray, president and general manager of the British America Paint Company. Mr. Pendray is the son of Carl Pendray, one of the founders of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau and a former director of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce.

The nominations were made by Austin Curtis as chairman of the nominating committee.

The position of treasurer was left vacant as this post is normally filled by the secretary-manager of the chamber, and the present holder of that office, Arnold Webb, is due to leave for another post in a month's time.

The departure of Mr. Webb as chamber secretary was marked yesterday by the presentation from the members of an inscribed silver tray in recognition of his short but highly effective term of office.

Hugh Stephen said the chamber was losing a valuable leader, and his loss was deeply regretted.

Austin Curtis who had also worked with Mr. Webb as a former president of the chamber also paid tribute.

Although Mr. Webb's new job was not announced, Mr. Curtis said that his appointment would be a great compliment to the chamber.

"The job sought the man and not the man the job," said Mr. Curtis, "and Mr. Webb did not know that he was even under consideration until the offer was made to him."

Mr. Webb said he regretted he was leaving before his five-year program was completed, but he gave his ideas as to what still required to be done.

He said that there were still 600 prospective members, and that a continuation of the recent drive might bring another 170 of them into the fold.

He expressed the view that the chamber might have to increase its membership rate, and that it should pursue plans for the eventual construction of a Chamber of Commerce building that would have adequate facilities for Junior Chamber of Commerce, and other similar activities.

The Arctic Ocean is a valuable fishing ground containing whales, cod, walrus and seals.

Heads Lions

Victoria (Central) Lions Club held its annual installation of officers at Royal Colwood Golf Club last night. New officers included, from top, Jack Horne, president; Lionel O'Neill, first vice-president; Leo Evenden, treasurer; and Art Cann, who has been secretary for 17 years. Chamber

Gulch Support Delayed

Directors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce postponed support for the move to preserve the Goldstream hydro plant at Japan Gulch as an historical site, until further assurances were given.

Sam Lane, chairman of the tourist trade group, asked the directors to endorse the move by the Electrical Engineers Institute of America to have the old plant preserved and the surrounding area converted into a provincial park.

"I take a dim view of any one taking over that property" said Mayor Percy Scurrah. "The area belongs to the Greater Victoria Water Board, and the water board would not favor handing over the property unless it was assured that there would be no danger of fire as a result."

Mr. Lane withdrew his recommendation until such time as he was able to obtain assurance that the question of fire protection to the timber in the watershed had been settled.

Witnesses Plan For Convention

Plans are under way for Jehovah's Witnesses from the Victoria Congregation to attend an international convention of Witnesses in New York City July 27 to Aug. 3.

Clifford Roberts, presiding minister of the local group, said the convention could be the largest in the history of the denomination. A peak attendance of 165,000 was reached at a similar convention in Yankee Stadium in 1953.

Appeal Takes Shape While Judge Sleeps

FRIBOURG, Switzerland—Marcel Peiry, 26, who was sentenced to five years in prison for theft, will get a new trial because he charged one of the judges at his first trial slept through the proceedings and was not qualified to pronounce a verdict.

Henry Ford's first auto in 1892 had a two-cylinder engine, producing four horsepower.

King Fisherman Reports Good For Cape Mudge

Latest entries received in The Daily Colonist King Fisherman Contest disclose that some of the season's best salmon fishing has recently been found off Cape Mudge.

Anglers out from Ferndell Court during the past week have boosted the entry total considerably with many limit catches of coho to seven pounds. And they are picking up quite a number of springs up to 20 pounds on their coho tackle. The silvers appear to be taking most lures, some scoring with bucktail flys, some with spoons and others with plugs. One of the best lures here has been the Gresvig Paravan spoon.

But fishing is generally good in the whole area between Comox and Campbell River.

The fourth tyee of the year in the King Fisherman Contest was weighed in at Painter's Lodge, just north of Campbell River. It weighed 31¼ pounds and was taken by Mrs. E. M. Lotz of Seattle on a Tiny Louie plug.

Exceptionally large coho for this time of the year made fine sport for anglers fishing from Miracle Beach. Quite a number of the silvers weighed more than nine pounds.

Saratoga Beach anglers also did well the past week with good-sized silvers, there were good reports from Shelter Bay and Oyster Bay and Bates Beach Boathouse reported some good-sized springs. Fishing is also good off Little River and it looks like a fine weekend for anglers in the Comox-Campbell River stretch.

Earning expense-paid trip to Vancouver, Ted Pollard, left, defeated Pete Marinker in straight sets last night to win city junior tennis championship. Three finals were completed at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club last night with the tournament winding up today.

One of best matches in the tournament came in the under-18 girls' singles final in which Joan Woolison gained an 11-9, 4-6, 7-5 victory over Diana Lawrence, left. Miss Woolison will also go to Vancouver to compete in the provincial finals.—(Colonist photos by Bud Kinsman.)

Pierce Hurls Masterpiece But Loses Perfect Game

Southpaw Billy Pierce missed a perfect game by the margin of a single pitch last night as pinch-hitter Ed Fitzgerald doubled with two out in the ninth inning after the brilliant White Sox lefthander had retired 26 Washington batters in a row.

Chicago went on to defeat the Senators, 3-0, as the 31-year-old Pierce registered his seventh win of the season and third straight shutout. He has now given up only 10 hits in his last 27 innings.

Fitzgerald, batting for Washington pitcher Russ Kemmerer, lined Pierce's first pitch to right field, ruining the Chicago hurler's bid to become the first lefthander to pitch a perfect game.

Pierce struck out nine in pitching his masterpiece, allowing only six balls to be hit out of the infield.

PERFECT GAMES

Perfect games have been pitched by Don Larsen, in the 1956 World Series, and in regular season play by Charlie Robertson in 1922, Ernie Shore in 1917, Addie Joss in 1908 and Cy Young in 1904.

The last major league no-hitter was pitched by White Sox righthander Bob Keegan last August 20.

Pierce also scored what proved to be the winning run, doubling and scoring on Jim Landis' single in the third inning. Catcher Sherm Lollar drove in the other two runs with a single in the eighth inning.

YANKS GAIN

Meanwhile, the New York Yankees stretched their league lead to eight and one-half games, whipping Kansas City, 10-3. The loss snapped a six-game Athletic win streak.

Art Ditmar picked up his second win of the season in a relief role.

Detroit Tigers rallied to defeat Boston, 7-4, after the Red Sox had gone ahead 4-0 on two-run homers by Jackie Jensen and Ted Williams. The home runs were Jensen's 20th and Williams' 10th.

WINNING DEBUT

Joe Gordon made a winning debut as Cleveland manager when the Indians edged the Baltimore Orioles, 6-5, on J. W. Porter's seventh-inning two-run single.

In the National League, Milwaukee Braves blew a chance to increase their league lead, bowing to the Los Angeles Dodgers, 3-1, for the seventh straight time.

Dick Gray and John Roseboro clouted home runs for the Dodgers who got seven-hit pitching from Sandy Koufax.

Hank Aaron collected three of the seven hits, including his 12th home run of the season.

PINCH HIT WINS

Pinch hitter Dave Philley doubled home the winning run in the 11th inning as Philadelphia cooled off St. Louis, 5-4, snapping the Cards' six-game winning streak.

Dick Farrell picked up his fifth victory of the season in relief, coming on in the ninth with the winning run on their base to check the Cards. Rookie Curt Flood, who had tripled home the tying run, was left stranded as Farrell took over from starter Robin Roberts.

San Francisco also failed to gain on the Braves as Cincinnati second baseman Johnny Temple cracked a two-run triple in the ninth inning to give the Redlegs a 6-5 victory.

Giants, after trailing 4-1, had gone ahead when shortstop Daryl Spencer hit his 10th home run of the season in the third and Orlando Cepeda his 16th in the fifth inning.

PIRATES SKID

Pittsburgh Pirates dropped their seventh straight decision, bowing to the Chicago Cubs, 3-1, as Moe Drabowsky notched his sixth victory with a five-hitter.

Drabowsky, who was married to an airline stewardess earlier in the day, also drove in the Cubs first run with a single in the fifth inning. Former Pirate Dale Long singled home another pair in the sixth to send Bob Friend down to his eighth defeat as against nine victories.

'Four-Point' Battle

Rocks at Nanaimo For Game Tonight

Victoria Shamrocks, holding down third and final playoff berth but only four points from first place in the Inter-City Lacrosse League, tackle the Nanaimo Timbermen at the up-Island centre tonight in an important clash for both teams.

The Rocks, in what was probably their finest effort of the season, trounced the Timbermen by a 14-7 score Wednesday night to pull three points ahead of Nanaimo. A victory for the Irish tonight would ease the situation and put the Victorians only one point behind Vancouver.

Coach Whitey Severson said last night that Ed Kowalyk will be out of action against the Timbermen. Kowalyk was injured at Memorial Arena Wednesday night, breaking a blood vessel in his leg.

Geordie Johnston will be in goal with Tom Druce and Derry Davies, and Lew Landess and Jackie Northup the defence pairings.

Al Gill will make his second start of the season on a line with Pee Wee Bradshaw and Jim McNulty; Archie Browning, Bert Bertoia and Al Davies will be on another line, and George Wilson, Art Green and Ron Jay will form an attacking unit. Jack Howse will be utility.

The Timbermen will use ex-Shamrock defenceman Ross Roskamp for the first time this season. Roskamp will partner Skip McKay with Arnie Dugan moving up to a forward line with Don Ashbee and Don Sherry, an outstanding attacking unit two seasons ago.

Only other Nanaimo lineup change will be Alf Shuker starting in goal as a replacement for Fred Fulla.

Canada has seven different species of bats, the only mammals that possess wings.

West German Soccer Team To Boycott World Cup Final

STOCKHOLM—The West German team, at loggerheads with the Swedish organizers of the World Cup soccer competition, announced last night that it will, in effect, boycott the closing festivities of the tournament.

"We will leave immediately after our last game," German manager Sepp Herberger told a press conference. "The players want to return to their families. They've had enough."

The decision to stay away from Sunday's Swedish-Brazilian final and the festivities marking the close of the three-week tournament was a slap at the Swedish organizers.

It came as Swedish newspapers were echoing with angry comments on reports that German youths slashed the tires on the cars of Swedish tourists and tore down Swedish flags in Aachen after Sweden's victory over Germany in a World Cup semi-final Tuesday."

Meanwhile, a representative of the International Federation of Football Associations, warned Sweden against "organized cheering" during the final.

Karol Lotsy, who attended Sweden's match against West Germany, was critical of the organized cheering for the Swedish team and reported that tournament officials sent special cheer leaders onto the field while the match was in progress.

"The crowd, of course, can cheer as much as they like—but the cheer leaders must keep off the ground while the match is on. That cannot be allowed."

O'Doul Willing

Mays Wants Help To Solve Problem

NEW YORK (AP)—Willie Mays, disturbed because his batting average has shrunk 70 points from .425 in three weeks, practically pleaded Friday for an older and wiser head to tell him what he's doing wrong.

In a Cincinnati interview with Jimmy Cannon, New York Post columnist, the star centre fielder of San Francisco Giants, said:

"I need some older fellow to watch me. I mean some one who knows me and knows all about me and what I done when I started and how I was when I came up."

He said the best thing would be to have Jackie Robinson to play with him for one year.

Mays said that outside of Hank Sauer, his teammates are "afraid" to tell him what they think he is doing wrong.

An offer to help was not long in coming.

In San Francisco, Lefty O'Doul, a spring training batting coach for the Giants, said he'd be "tickled to death" to work with Willie "if he feels I can help him."

O'Doul, twice a National League batting champion, said he has seen a lot of things Willie is doing wrong. He did not elaborate.

O'Doul worked with hitters in the spring, but not with Mays. He didn't ask for help then, O'Doul said.

Three Titles Decided In Junior Net Meet

Ted Pollard and Joan Woolison, two promising tennis prospects, captured singles titles yesterday as play continued in the Jaycee-sponsored Victoria city junior tennis championships at the Victoria Lawn Tennis Club.

Pollard took the boys' under 18 singles crown with a 6-1, 6-1 win over Pete Marinker. Miss Woolison gained an 11-9, 4-6, 7-5 victory over Diana Lawrence in a three-set thriller. Both winners earned expenses-paid trips to the provincial finals at Vancouver.

In the under 18 boys doubles, John Harper and Jim Peters teamed for a 6-1, 6-1 victory over Don McCormick and Alan Ross.

Play will continue in the under 15 and under 13 events today with players being notified by telephone the starting times of final matches.

Margo Izard meets Joan McCormick in the under 15 singles final; Don McCormick plays John Dawson to decide the under 13 singles champion, and Margaret Maysmith meets Gillian Thomas in the girls' under 13 singles event.

Tugmen Win

Sparked by Bill Gosling's three-goal performance, Foul Bay Tugmen romped to a 12-1 victory over Jokers last night in Senior "B" Lacrosse League action at Stevenson Park.

Fred Doig collected a pair of goals with Jack Thompson, Dave Edgar, Mel Davison, Gary Taylor, Ken Barnes, Art Pike and Bill Bamford each scoring once.

For the outclassed Jokers, Dave Yates was the lone scorer.

. . . quits football

Fiery Tommy Bolt, who had been doing a remarkable job of holding his temper in check in recent weeks, provided the fireworks in the second round of the $50,000 [illegible] Palmer increased his lead by one stroke.

Bolt, who won the U.S. Open title with a cool and courageous display of golf, withdrew from the tournament after taking seven on the par-four ninth hole for a 42. He said he was ill.

The club-throwing Bolt also was fined $500 by the PGA for violation of its code of ethics. A PGA official said Bolt's quitting had nothing to do with the fine, levied for a previous outburst of temper.

The steady Palmer, golf's leading money winner this year, shot a 69 to add to his course record of 66 for a 36-hole total of 135. Jimmy Demaret took the runner-up position, three strokes behind Palmer, by firing a 67 yesterday.

Tied for third place were Don Fairfield, who equalled Palmer's record yesterday, Henry Ransom and newcomer George Bernadin. Al Balding of Canada was nine strokes off the pace at 144 and Stan Leonard of Vancouver was another stroke back.

BARRY MACKAY, America's big hope in men's singles at Wimbledon, may have been saved by the weather yesterday as most of the scheduled matches were rained out in the annual net classic. Mackay lost the first set to Bob Mark of Australia and was tied at 8-8 in the second when play was halted. Fourth-seeded Neale Fraser of Australia gained the fourth round in the only singles match completed . . . Fay Crocker shot one of the best rounds in the history of U.S. women's open golf yesterday by recording a 35-33—68 at Detroit. The 1955 U.S. Open champ was five under par . . . Ivan Parke, former U.S. riding champion and trainer of 1945 Kentucky Derby champion Hoop, has announced his resignation as trainer of Mrs. Elizabeth N. Graham's Main Chance farm . . . Mrs. W. Knox of Vancouver's Marine Drive club won the B.C. women's closed golf championship Friday, beating Colleen Smith of Point Grey, 4 and 2. Mrs. Knox led all the way in the 36-hole final.

FRANK ANDERSON, a Western Conference all-star end five times in his six years with the Edmonton Eskimos, is retiring from football as the result of a knee injury suffered in the last game of the 1957 league schedule. Anderson's retirement is a blow to the Eskimos, who have already lost several outstanding players . . . Bobby Bragan, fired as manager of Cleveland Indians on Thursday, may wind up at the helm of the floundering Buffalo Bisons of the International League . . . Johnny Busso, a free-swinging young lightweight, handed Carlos Ortiz the first defeat of his 28-bout career last night, earning a split decision in 10 rounds in a televised bout at New York . . . Quarterback Gino Cappelletti has been sold by Winnipeg Blue Bombers to Saskatchewan Roughriders . . . Two soccer players have been suspended for life and three teams banned for the duration of the season by the Toronto and District Soccer Association . . . T. S. Shorthouse, mayor of Nelson, has appealed to the Spokane city council for help in keeping Spokane in the Western International Hockey League . . . Nick Weslock, Canadian amateur golf champion, will be shooting for his third Ontario amateur title today when he meets Gary Cowan of Kitchener in the semi-finals. The final will follow this afternoon.

LINDSAY, Ont. (CP) — In spite of a warning from Attorney-General Kelso Roberts of Ontario, promoters of a bloodless bullfight here say the event will go on as planned Aug. 2 and 4.

Many Old Favorites Left Out In Voting for All-Star Teams

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stan Musial was a near-unanimous choice yesterday for the 1958 major league all-star game on July 8, but many perennial favorites, including Ted Williams, Yogi Berra, Ed Mathews and Harvey Kuenn were passed up in the voting by the men who know the game best.

Major league players, managers and coaches, picking the eight starters on each all-star team for the first time, in nearly every case honored 1958 performances over the time-honored reputations of some of baseball's greatest stars.

All-star teams, with batting averages in brackets:

AMERICAN LEAGUE
C—Gus Triandos, Baltimore (.262).
1B—Bill Skowron, New York (.284).
2B—Nelly Fox, Chicago (.333).
3B—Frank Malzone, Boston (.303).
SS—Luis Aparicio, Chicago (.257).
LF—Bob Cerv, Kansas City (.313).
CF—Mickey Mantle, New York (.277).
RF—Jackie Jensen, Boston (.293).

NATIONAL LEAGUE
C—Del Crandall, Milwaukee (.281).
1B—Stan Musial, St. Louis (.364).
2B—Bill Mazeroski, Pittsburgh (.282).
3B—Frank Thomas, Pittsburgh (.302).
SS—Ernie Banks, Chicago (.303).
LF—Bob Skinner, Pittsburgh (.326).
CF—Willie Mays, San Francisco (.373).
RF—Hank Aaron, Milwaukee (.295).

In the American League, they chose left fielder Bob Cerv of the Athletics over Williams, and catcher Gus Triandos of the Orioles over Berra. In the National, they favored converted third baseman Frank Thomas, outfielder Bob Skinner and second baseman Bill Mazeroski of the Pirates.

So drastic was the shake-up of all-star choices that five of the 16 starters never have been picked even as a reserve before this. They are Cerv, Triandos, Mazeroski, Skinner and shortstop Luis Aparicio of the White Sox.

The pitchers and the reserve players for each squad will be chosen by the respective managers, Casey Stengel of the Yankees and Fred Haney of the Braves, and announced Sunday. Stengel already has assured Berra of a place on the squad. It is expected that both managers will round out their squads with many of the "old pros" who did not win berths on the starting teams.

15TH APPEARANCE

Musial, who will be participating in his 15th all-star game, received 201 votes of the total 231 cast in the National League. In view of the fact that the major leaguers were not permitted to vote for members of their own teams, Musial was favored by nearly every one of those eligible to vote for him.

Mays, the major league batting leader with a .373 mark, was the second-highest vote-getting with 195. Malzone, the Red Sox' steady third baseman, was the most popular American League choice, appearing on the ballots of 186 of the 235 votes cast.

Other players who won their positions by one-sided margins were Banks, with 184 votes; Crandall, with 171; Jensen, with 147; Triandos, with 126, and Thomas, with 122.

The closest contest for any position was at second base in the American League where Fox edged McDougald, 108 votes to 104.

Cerv beat out Williams, 101 to 86; Mantle topped Kuenn, 133 to 100; Thomas had a 122-65 margin over Mathews, and Triandos' 126 votes beat out Lollar's 80 and Berra's 26.

Fans throughout the country selected the starting players in recent years and caused a furore last season when Cincinnati rooters "stuffed" the ballot box and elected eight Redlegs as starters. Commissioner Ford Frick overruled the fans and placed Mays and Aaron on the [illegible] players.

Chip Shot Makes Difference Between Winning and Losing

By OSCAR FRALEY

EAST NORWICH, N.Y. (UPI)—The most important shot in golf, whether you're a hero or a hacker, is the chip shot anywhere from 30 yards into the green.

That's the analysis of Skee Riegel, the veteran Philadelphia area professional currently competing in the Long Island Open. And he'll tell you that this shot is the difference between the winners and the losers.

"It's the getting-down-in-two shot," Riegel explains," and the guy who masters it is the guy they'll all have to beat either in the tournaments or in a one-buck Nassau back home at the Country Club."

For the touring professional it's the difference, Riegel said in analyzing the woes of some of the young stars who are failing to live up to their billing, between being a big money winner and living on coffee and doughnuts.

MONEY SHOT

"Chip it close enough to get it down in one putt with real consistency," Skee proclaimed, "and you have the real money shot of golf. Hitting the ball and scoring well are two different things. It's turning those three strokes from near the green into two strokes which makes the difference.

"That close-up chip shot is the one which holds the pars for the pros and keeps the bogey from becoming a double and triple bogey for the ordinary player," he added.

Most pros will tell you that there are only a dozen players in any tournament, who have a chance to win, but Riegel is impressed with the younger corp of "fine" golfers and figures that in these days "anywhere from 25 to 30 guys have a real chance."

"Don't sell fellows like Gene Littler, Ken Venturi and Dow Finsterwald short just because they haven't been winning," he cautioned. "Littler got 'stroke conscious' and for a while was wandering around asking everybody what was the matter with his game. He'd even ask a caddy or a hotel doorman. But he's about straightened out and you'll hear from him.

"Finsterwald made a mistake by pressing to continue his streak of merely being 'in the money,'" Riegel added. "With his streak gone he'll start playing his bold game again and he'll be a winner. As for Venturi, he is an inspirational type player who simply got tired. He'll bounce back."

Riegel hold that Tommy Bolt's winning 283 total in the U.S. Open at Southern Hills in Tulsa was "the four finest rounds we'll see all year."

"Bolt solidly won it," Riegel said. "It wasn't the usual case of somebody losing it. And with par being 280, you've got to figure he made only three mistakes all the way which, on that type of strong golf course, was a real performance."

"And," Riegel concluded, "the shot that did it was putting 'em up close with those short chips—those down-in-two chips which are the real money shots of golf."

The first 14 rows in old Grecian amphitheatres were usually cushioned for use by nobles.

Duncan's improving Mayo Lumber squad went on the biggest scoring spree of the senior "A" men's softball league season last night by routing last-place Half Way House 21-5, at Central Park.

The up-Island club, in moving to within a game of the second-place Arrow Furniture team, banged out 20 hits off three pitchers and took advantage of seven Half Way errors. Only three of the hits went for extra bases.

Mike Clegg tossed a five-hitter in picking up the victory and also led Duncan at the plate with three hits. He drove in four runs and scored three times. Don Clarke smashed a two-run homer in the first to get Duncan away to a good start.

The winners scored in every inning but the third and fourth, and every player in the lineup picked up at least one hit. Jim Peterson also banged out three hits.

Fletchers opened up a two-game lead in the senior "B" men's league at Heywood Avenue Park last night by downing Navy, 10-5. Glen Bullen went the distance for the win, giving up seven hits.

Don Pimlott got the big blow for the winners, a grand-slam home run in the third inning. Tom Sloan cracked out a two-run homer for the sailors in the first frame.

Henderson Retains Trapshooting Title

VANCOUVER—Canadian doubles trapshooting champion Gil Henderson of Long Branch, Ont., served notice Friday that he's after more than a repeat win in the two-target competition.

The youthful Henderson, considered a cinch to win a berth on Canada's team to the world championships in Moscow, topped last year's score by one bird with 97 of a possible 100 to retain his doubles championship.

Then Henderson fired 99x100 in the first section of the 500 singles to lead the 125-gun field by six targets in the running aggregate of the Canadian championships.

Olympic marksman Earl Caldwell of Vancouver was second with 93 and Russ Young of Vancouver took third with a 92 in the doubles event, the only competition completed on the first day of the four-day championships.

Runners-up to Henderson in the running aggregate were Caldwell, who added a 96 in the singles, and Vic Reinders of Wakesha, Wis., who had 100 in the singles and 89 in the doubles.

Stock Markets Close Week On Firm Note

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks moved ahead for the third straight session on the strength of favorable business news.

Chemicals again were upside leaders, with Du Pont and Eastman Kodak up more than a point each. Fractional gains predominated in the rails, which continued to reflect congressional action to repeal the 3 per cent tax on freight transportation.

There was selective buying of oils. Zenith jumped more than 2 in the televisions. Pfizer was a feature in the drugs.

American Telephone rose more than a point. Anaconda Wire & Cable tumbled 5 points on a dividend omission but recovered a small part of the loss before the close.

Industrials Rally

TORONTO (CP)—Industrials and base metals rallied near the close to pull the stock market to an irregular advance amid heavier trading.

Industrial stocks pushed ahead in the final half hour. Among the leading winners were Ford A, Algoma Steel, Canada Packers B, Shawinigan and Consolidated Paper. Calgary Power lost 1⅜ at 69 and Power Corp. was off a point to 65 as utilities had more losses than gains.

Senior base metals, led by Hudson Bay and International Nickel, moved up in a fractional range but low-priced mines were irregular. Faraday Uranium featured closing trading, dropping to 97 cents before rallying back to $1.10, a loss of 19 cents. International Ranwick with a turnover of 355,600 shares, was the most-active issue and it added ½ cent to 44 cents.

Home Oil Gains

MONTREAL (CP) — Little trend was evident at the close of moderate trading.

Miscellaneous stocks showed a weak tendency, and utilities and beverages were mixed narrowly.

Toronto-Dominion Bank, down one point at 43¾ was the weak spot in firm bank, oil and pipeline and base metal groups. Noranda gained ¾ at 43¼. Hudson Bay at 46¼ and Imperial Oil at 55¾ were up ⅝ each.

Canada Steamship Lines slipped ¾ to 39.

The senior mines and oils group was fractionally easier but the feature was Home Oil A up 1⅜ at 19¾.

Gas Stock Boosted

VANCOUVER—Prices were mixed with some activity among selected industrials.

Inland Natural Gas advanced to $5¾, while Crown Zellerbach Canada Ltd. was firm at $20¼. Capital Estates rose to $5¾ and Okanagan Helicopters to 2.95.

Craigmont, Quatsino, Bralorne and New Hamil were easier among mines, while Royal Canadian Ventures, United and Vantor were soft spots among oils. Futurity advanced to 52 cents.

London Stock Prices

LONDON (CP)—Business on the London stock exchange was limited and price movements were small and irregular.

South African gold shares maintained a firm tone but demand was selective.

Round Table Seeks To Boost Earnings

CHICAGO (AP)—Round Table, turfdom's richest active runner, is heavily favored to capture the $50,000-added Arch Ward Memorial Handicap on grass today and supplant Citation as second all-time money winner.

Round Table is burdened with what at least one rival stable deemed an overlight impost of 129 pounds. Willie Shoemaker will ride.

If all nine entries start, the turf feature named for the late sports editor of the Chicago Tribune will gross $56,050 with a winner's net of $33,000.

Round Table thus can jump his earnings to $1,090,014, placing him second behind Nashua ($1,288,565), the all-time champion money winner.

Garden Notes

How to Cut Flowers

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRHS

The garden should not only supply the house with cut flowers in bouquets and arrangements but there is a right and a wrong way to go about it.

A keen gardener has every right to feel aggrieved if his best and most graceful plants are pushed to the edge or carelessly cut. It's annoying to say the least to come home from work and find a flower bed cleared of all like a picked beagle or if the garden display is spoiled by whoever is judging from one particular point where his or their blooms could have been gathered by selecting two or three from each of a number of plants.

The trick here is to look upon the gathering of cut flowers as a pruning operation rather than a harvest of a crop. Keep in mind the appearance of the plant from which you are cutting. Do not take a bloom, even if one can't be spared, from the front row of a border. Work from the back and from the sides. Cut stems as long as possible to leave enough foliage for the stems of the next crop of flowers. Stems of some plants, such as [illegible] should be cut with a sharp knife and not broken off. Cut them at an angle so that the stem will not rest flat on the bottom of the vase and thus prevent the water from reaching the flowers.

[illegible] method is to take a [illegible] and cut the stems under water. A vessel for garden cuts can be made by [illegible] a few inches from the top of a [illegible] can. Keep it in a shady place and fill it with water before you go out to cut flowers. Then you can put the stems into the water as soon as they are cut. This prevents the entry of air bubbles into the stems which can cause the flowers to wilt.

[illegible] is the best time of day to cut flowers? Some authorities claim that the early morning is best because the plants are then full of moisture. Others say late afternoon is the best time because the stems are then strongest. Personally I prefer to cut flowers in the cool of the evening and as for "the best time" for cutting besides convenience of the cutter, it depends on the variety [illegible] of flowers.

I always develop a violent fancy for [illegible] when I see those elegant displays of flowers at [illegible] and flippy [illegible] with [illegible] flowers with a pair of scissors [illegible] and [illegible] and [illegible] and

Burly Women, Two Men Face Charges

A top provincial welfare official was set upon, mauled and beaten up here yesterday after she refused a request by five sons of Freedom Doukhobors that their children be released from custody at New Denver.

Mrs. Betty M. Lee, superintendent of child welfare for the province, was the victim of the attack in her office at the provincial government building.

She suffered severe scratches and minor abrasions and was examined by a doctor after the attack. Doctor attending said extent of injuries would be known in a few days.

Mrs. Lee, who was rushed to hospital after the attack, was released yesterday afternoon.

Leeds Soup Potent Brew

LONDON (Reuters) — A husband whose wife made him a "soup" of water and torn pieces of their wedding photograph failed to win a divorce.

The court ruled Mrs. Theodore F. Stevens had good reason to be provoked.

She said she prepared the brew after finding a letter from a young woman who lovingly recalled sitting on her husband's knee and eating soup in Leeds, Yorkshire.

9 IN MEMORIAM

HAYNES—In loving memory of a dear Mother and Grandmother, Gertrude Ellen, who passed away June 30, 1951.
Seven years ago we had to part
With one we loved with all our heart;
A kindly smile, a heart of gold—
No better mother this world did hold.
Her thoughts were all so full of us,
She would never forget
And so we think that where she is
She must be watching yet.
To your grave I often wander,
And see your face so clear,
As I place each flower I say,
God bless you, mother dear.
—Always remembered and sadly missed by her daughter and son-in-law, Betty and Bill Hanson, grandchildren Irene, Ken and Norman.

TV TALK

By Bruce Lowther

Lady luck finally has deserted Mrs. Lee Revel of Columbus, Ga. who recently won prizes worth more than $25,000 on a TV quiz show.

She was in Miami yesterday with her husband, taking a vacation she won on the program, when her son [illegible] home had been badly damaged by fire. The cause of the blaze was a short circuit in a color TV set that was another of her prizes.

★ ★ ★

REVIEWS: Talk of the TV industry is Jack Paar's "Buffet in Paris" on Wednesday. For reasons too complicated to explain, Paar poured water into a bottle of pills and capped it; 20 minutes later it exploded over Paar and his guests with little damage and lots of laughs. Ad lib mayhem like this prove that despite the firing of Dody Goodman, Paar's show remains the most entertaining on TV . . . On Thursday's Playhouse 90's version of "The Great Gatsby" was well done. But while the story was Fitzgerald's the people were not; they were far too nice. . . . The new ABC series Confession killed its own interest with too much talk and rates as only fair.

TV BITS: An interview of John Foster Dulles on Channel 6 is a good bet today as are six movies. "One Touch of Venus," "Special Staircase," "Pickwick Papers," "The Sea Around Us," "Run For Your Money" and "Story of Mandy." Fox Hour, Andy's Gang, Circle 8 Hoedown, My Little Margie and Marsie films end their runs while CBC starts Hero's Duffy. . . . Former Vancouver radio man Terry Gamble now is program manager of CFUN, Vancouver, while Ralph Passey and Len Carlson left CJVI recently for other jobs. . . . Keep Tuesday a CBS panel show due July 8 should be good. The panel includes Elaine and Mike, Paul Winchell, Joey Bishop and Ilka Chase.

Canadian Dorothy Collins may return to Hit Parade next season. Plans to sign Hugh Grant have fallen through. . . . Screen Gems claims it will place the Ed Wynn show and Behind Closed Doors on NBC's Thursday schedule next fall. . . . Ed Murrow's Small World conversations between well-known people in various fields will run on CBS Sunday afternoons next season. . . . The new Ann Sothern show due to start in Sept. has been withdrawn. . . . The new Donna Reed show will compete with Milton Berle and Millionaire. . . . Chet Walker may be dropped as the star of Cheyenne because of a contract dispute.

"The winner of the giant jackpot is . . ."

Daily Astrology

SATURDAY JUNE 28

Today's Quotation — "You are as young as your faith, as old as your doubt, as young as your self-confidence, as old as your fear, as young as your hope, as old as your despair." Samuel Ullman

Saturday for Everyone: Daytime requires a realistic calm, practical approach; use care on route and in dealings with others. Evening favors relaxation, pleasures, contacts with loved ones.

Look for Your Birthdate and Birthsign Below

March 21 to April 19 (Aries): Routine details [illegible] depend on news promises. See people in the evening.

April 20 to May 20 (Taurus): Save money, energy; don't get involved. Go places, have fun in the evening.

May 21 to June 20 (Gemini): Be self-reliant; don't depend on cooperation; promote romance, pleasure in the evening.

June 21 to July 22 (Cancer): Keep things under control, be guarded against confusion. Improve ward; come home in the evening.

July 23 to Aug. 22 (Leo): Keep clear of tangents; chance. Visit kin, neighbors or see loved ones in the evening.

Aug. 23 to Sept. 22 (Virgo): Proceed on a diplomatic, practical basis. Be around home, base in the evening.

Sept. 23 to Oct. 22 (Libra): Watch words; acts; keep relationships involved. Visit, confer, get around in the evening.

Oct. 23 to Nov. 21 (Scorpio): Be thrifty, don't misplay, lose things; care for money matters, possessions in the evening.

Nov. 22 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius): Shun confusion, waste; excel diplomacy. Promote ideals, friendships in the evening.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 19 (Capricorn): Clear the slate of office, red tape; don't take chances; get sufficient rest in the evening.

Jan. 20 to Feb. 18 (Aquarius): Limit socializing, expenses. Advance hopes, see friends, promote ideals in the evening.

Feb. 19 to March 20 (Pisces): Adhere to a conservative policy; protect credit. The evening favors all practical interests.

Planning Ahead: Good for entertaining, sociability, etc. Turn 4, 7, 11.

Bus Fare Increase Not Considered Yet

Increased bus fares for Greater Victoria would not likely be even considered before completion of current wage negotiations, a spokesman for the B.C. Electric Company has stated.

He was commenting on a report from Vancouver, which said higher fares had been hinted yesterday by a company official who said that if wage costs rose, a fare boost would be considered.

Now before a conciliation officer is a dispute over wages between the company and the Street Railwaymen's Union, representing 2,200 employees.

B.C. Ports Exported New High

Increased shipments of wheat, aluminum, crude petroleum, asbestos and chemicals led to major gains in the Canadian exports passing through B.C. ports last year, it was announced yesterday.

Total value of 1957 exports was $861,000,000, a sizeable gain over the $770,000,000 of the previous year. Imports fell off slightly, from $529,000,000 in 1956 to $522,000,000 last year.

The latter was due to a decline in the imports of iron and steel products last year.

The five leading countries buying most goods last year were the U.S., the United Kingdom, Japan, West Germany, the Netherlands and Belgium. They purchased a combined total of 74 per cent of all exports.

Paris Papers 'Blank' Inside

PARIS (Reuters)—Two left-wing weekly magazines, reported seized by police two days ago, appeared on newsstands Friday with blank spaces in their pages.

Officials at Premier Charles de Gaulle's office emphasized that no censorship has existed in France since the general came to power June 1. But the officials declined to comment further on the seizure of L'Express and France-Observateur.
